Biology Central Laboratory Usage Regulations:

The Biology Central Laboratory is accessible to Department of Biology members and students at all times. Consultation with scientists is available during office hours. Users are responsible for any damages incurred when using the Biology Central Laboratory outside regular hours.

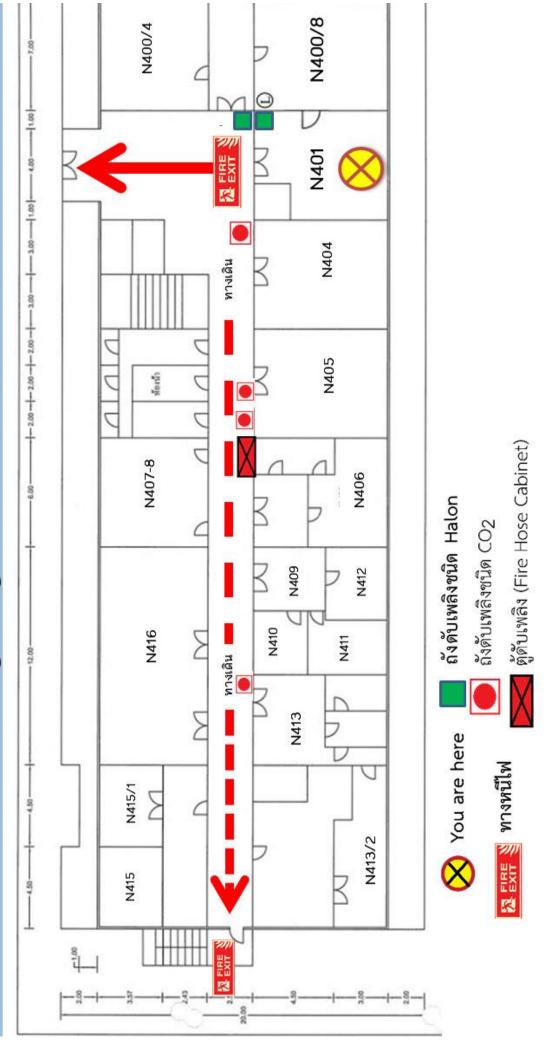

Note: Non-department personnel and students not registered in Biology courses lack the right to use Biology Central Laboratory equipment. If needed, external individuals can request access through the responsible faculty member and notify the Biology Central Laboratory Committee in Room N401. Forms are available upon request.

Guidelines for Biology Central Laboratory Usage:

- 1. Familiarize yourself with the laboratory layout for efficient equipment location.
- Identify emergency exit routes for quick evacuation during emergencies.
- 3. Wear closed-toe shoes to protect against chemical spills.
- 4. Dress appropriately, including wearing a lab coat during experiments.
- Bring only essential items into the laboratory; eating and drinking are prohibited.
- 6. Avoid running or playing in the laboratory to prevent accidents or disturbance of chemical containers, minimizing the risk of spills and harm to oneself and others.
